The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Who Made the Mess?

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who will probably win the Democratic nomination for presidency, is reported by the New York Times as having said that, as President, he would stop the war to negotiate for peace.

That is to suggest that we would have a better bargaining position if we try for peace from a war that has ceased to exist. You wouldn't get a military man to agree to that!

Thus, Mr. Humphrey is adding his potent voice to the voices of others who have messed it up in Vietnam.

Who dreams up these crazy ideas and then is able to sell them to American leaders? How do we get so messed up in this nation, in Vietnam, in the world? Doesn't a group reflecting sanity ever get the ear of our leaders?

The U. S. Press Association informed us the other day that many attempts have been made to answer this question but it is obvious that the answers — and the lessons that should be drawn — don't sink in. The same mistakes are being made and we keep putting into office the same types who made the present mess for us.

The question of why we got in this mess is partly answered by the question who got us in it. With this information we may be able to more intelligently cast our votes in November.

The list of those who must assume some responsibility for getting this country in the mess from which our leaders indicate no enthusiasm for getting out of, goes back to the Red Decade — the 1930's — and should include those who promoted recognition of Soviet Russia when that country was on the verge of collapse, and it should include those who plumped for the Communist cause up to and throughout World War II, at the expense of the United States of America.

The list must include such names as Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White, the Rosenbergs, and others who did so much to change the map of the world and upset the balance of power, to the detriment of the U. S.

And the "honor roll" should include a horde of highly influential people in and out of government who, for various reasons, supported these characters even after they were exposed for their actions.

And don't let anyone say to you that this seems like ancient history. Actually it was only two decades ago that our mess-uppers connived in allowing Eastern Europe and much of Asia, including China, to fall to Communism. The Korean "police action" followed.

The same mentality responsible for those earlier disasters became evident in more recent debacles and fiascos—the Bay of Pigs, the Berlin Wall, the forming of a coalition government in Laos, our disastrous disarmament policy, the Pueblo, and the relaxed attitude in regard to rioters and looters. Where are the people who made such calamitous blunders? Are they in jail, hiding, or shamed into silence?

Not at all. None of these three. Some of the worst offenders are sounding off stridently today and they are being listened to respectfully.

Their names are featured in the news when the issues first arise but they seek the woodwork when the matters become a mess. Then, after a period of U.S. mourning and a reasonable time for forgetting, they pop back again.

Why do we let them get away with it?

Money Easier To See

Southern California-First National Bank in Lemon Grove reported the other day that it was about to modernize its recently-built facility at Imperial and Golden.

How do you go about modernizing a modern bank?

Well, for one thing, there'll be no more counters between the public and the bank officers. You walk right into what formerly was the inner sanctum with the same ease that you can walk into the corner saloon.

The new concept in banking, whereby there were a minimum of bars and glass dividers between the depositor and the teller, is now changed so that there will be nothing — except the counter on which the depositor may lean, and the teller may write.

Bank togetherness, that's it! We suspect it makes the bank executives feel that they may get at your money a little easier. It may appear from the new concept that the client may feel that he can more easily get at the bank's money. But many will find the steely glint still exists in the eye of the lending officer when an under-secured loan is applied for.

Time has passed for the banks that look like banks—those huge piles of stone, with caged tellers peering out through jail-like bars and officer's rooms naked excepting for a huge, golden oak desk and matching desk and filing cabinets.

With the new concept, soon to be exemplified by the First National Bank in Lemon Grove, all that is past. In some banks, officers wear sport jackets and slacks instead of the conventional black.

Even the change in bank advertising is dramatic.

At the U. S. National Bank in Lemon Grove, settings of table silverware are offered as inducements to do banking business there.

Year's ago bank advertising was restricted pretty much to name and address, Silverware, books, free days of interest, deficit check writing and other attractions are used to bring the customer to the bar-free bank counter today.

This has encouraged many business firms to take a lighter look at their bill-paying habits. Some firms, when paying bills of $50 or less, send a blank check, signed and dated. The creditor fills in the amount and submits a receipt marked "paid". It saves the debtor considerable amount of money because in some organizations it costs more than $5 for the paperwork checking out a small bill.

The federal government's rather casual attitude toward the way it spends your money may also be responsible for emancipated fiscal policies.

All of this is by way of saying that you may have easier contact with your bank's officers but they're keeping all that green stuff behind the same, cold steel doors.

LG-SV Kiwanians Appreciation Day Plans Set

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, meeting for breakfast and business on June 19, held an interclub with the Lemon Grove Club. Spring Valley Club president Bob Divine reported the club recently sent a $50 check to the "Pennies for Olympics," the money collected from pennies at each club meeting during the year.

Guest speaker at the June 19 meeting was Phil Del Campo, Community Relations Coordinator for Exemplary Programs in English as a Second Language for the County of San Diego. He was introduced by program chairman Ron Svalstad.

Speaking on the Mexican-American problems, Del Campo said that group is the second largest in California, with over one-and-a-half million. He said over 1000 cross the Mexican border each month.

He said a program has been set up in the Calif. schools to help these people in their difficulty with the English language, as this is their "second" language, meaning the one following their mother tongue.

It was pointed out that the program started with five schools participating, but there is hope that within a year and a half, 20 districts will be involved in the program.

He said once an educator sees the need for the program, he endorses it immediately. Del Campo pointed out that Mexican-American youth, particularly the boys, go to school (once in the United States) until they are 16 years old. Then they usually drop out to try and acquire jobs, to help their parents and family.

He said these youth have acquired a certain pride (Americanism) the same as other youngsters born in this country. And he pointed out, they need to master the English language in order to compete with other youth of today.

It has been discovered, Del Campo said, that many of these youth have high I.Q's. He urged that all service and other clubs, back the program now under way to teach these neighbors from across the border to have a better way of life in our society.

County Exposition Doors Are Now Open

A ribbon cutting ceremony and a grand parade down the Avenue of Flags officially opened the Southern California Exposition for 12 days at noon yesterday.

Following the cutting of the ribbon at the main gate to the Fairgrounds at Del Mar, a color guard and band from the Marine Corps Recruit Depot headed up a parade through the heart of the Exposition, the Avenue of Flags.

The parade included Fairfest of the Fair Mary Lamberton, with Don Diego, and Chris Collier as Miss Lemon Grove and Linda Davis, who is Miss Spring Valley along with other dignitaries.

Opening Day ceremonies concluded on the Don Diego Stage with the introduction of Fairfest of the Fair contestants and directors of the 22nd District Agricultural Association sponsors of the Exposition.

Directors included William B. Moeser, president; Franklin L. Barnes, vice president, and James H. Brower, William D. Evans, Frank M. Laswell, Lew Lipton, Harold J. McCormick, Roger J. Thies, and William T. H. Tulloch. R. J. O'Connor is Exposition Manager.

The Exposition features thousands of exhibits of entries in livestock, hobby, commercial, horse show, home-making, agriculture, floriculture, coins, photography, horticulture, civic, and military categories. In addition there are numerous commercial exhibits.

The Fairgrounds are open daily at 9 a.m., and close at 11 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children 6 to 12 years old.

Parking rates are 50 cents per car.

This year's Exposition includes two reunions, one for past presidents of the 22nd District Agricultural Association, and the other for past Fairfest of the Fair winners.

The president's reunion will be on Monday, July 1, and will include a tour of the Exposition, dinner and the Dale Robertson grandstand stage show.

The Fairest of the Fair reunion will cover two days, today and tomorrow, and will include television appearances, luncheons and dinner.

An annual highlight, the Fourth of July fireworks display, also will be a feature of this year's Exposition. The fireworks will be in front of the grandstand following the Mills Brothers Show.

This year's theme is "Saludos Amigos", meaning "welcome friends". The theme recognizes the Mexican heritage of the Exposition and San Diego, and is a forerunner for San Diego's 200th anniversary next year.

Largest Sombrero

What has been pegged as the largest sombrero in San Diego County will epitomize the theme of the Exposition.

The sombrero, with a diameter of 26 feet and a crown 12 feet high, will be on display in the Exhibit Hall. It includes 15 animated Mexican couples dancing around the hat band.

W. B. Zimmerly, design chief for the exposition, created the exhibit. It is bordered by stylized cutouts of Aztec and Mayan folk art, still used in design and art in Mexico.

Costumes for the three-foot-high dancers were made by Mrs. Jack Carr, widow of the former design chief at the Exposition. Mr. Carr conceived the tradition of the first theme exhibit sponsored by the Exposition in 1963.

Zimmerly was assisted this year by Sid Branchflower, of Encinitas, and Ed Bernish, of Solana Beach.

Hell's Angels Get 10 Years In L.G. Case

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Three members of the Hell's Angels, Lemon Grove Chapter, were sentenced to State prison for up to 10 years for their part in the assault of a Lemon Grove woman March 16.

Superior Court Judge Howard B. Turrentine said the conduct of the group was such that "they are not entitled to sympathy from any human being."

According to the probation report the woman was kidnapped from in front of Coral Inn, 7346 Broadway, Lemon Grove and taken to a rural El Cajon residence at 400K, E. Broadway. Coral Inn was the hangout for Hell's Angels at the time.

The report says the woman was beaten, earrings ripped from her pierced ears, clothes stripped from her body, cigarette.

Large Throng Expected At Event

Plans are underway for the largest community event that has ever taken place in Lemon Grove. An "Appreciation Day" will be held on August 4 at the Lemon Grove "Green Spot" County Park near Washington and Mt. Vernons sts. as a prelude to Lemon Grove's Centennial Anniversary.

An open invitation has been made to all of the citizens of Lemon Grove to attend the event that will kick off the Centennial program.

The picnic will begin at 12:30 p.m. and continue on throughout the evening.

It is expected to attract the biggest turnout of Lemon Grove citizens ever to be seen in the history of this community at an event of this type.

The Old Time Days Association is hopeful that all service clubs and organizations in Lemon Grove will direct their efforts to the Appreciation Day event.

Bands have been invited to provide music. The County Board of Supervisors, along with other government officials have also been invited to attend the function.

Lemon Grove residents are asked to bring their own food for the all-day picnic. They are also encouraged to bring their neighbors to the affair.

Mrs. Emil Norman, president of the Lemon Grove Business Woman's Club has been appointed by the Old Time Days Assoc. to head up the schedule of events.

She said, "We want to get all of the citizens of Lemon Grove out for this event. Nothing of this size have even been attempted in our community before. We want suggestions and help from our fellow citizens to make Lemon Grove's 100th birthday the most successful event that has ever been seen here."

The events of the day have been scheduled strictly on an informal basis. Al Woods, a community leader and manager of the Lemon Grove Bank of America said, "We want all of the people in Lemon Grove to take a part in the centennial celebration."

The way that the people have worked, and showed their response to this year's Old Time Days Parade, we feel that most of the hard work is behind us.

The Association has gained the experience of developing a successful parade and a successful slate of events. The people of the community have backed us 100%.

Local churches, civic organizations along with persons interested in the welfare of the community have made this possible.

From a cost view point, the Association has had to spend little money for the Old

Family Re-united After 30 Years

16 calls during the past week. Largest contributing factor to the outbreak of fires in the area has been children playing with matches. Officials urge all citizens to exercise care with matches.

Record Summer Session Starts At Grossmont College Monday

What has been pegged as a record summer session in history at the Grossmont College will get under way Monday at the campus.

More than 2,000 students are expected to attend the 67 different courses available at the college.

In addition to the usual general education courses such as English, history, and mathematics, a number of special interest courses will also be available to summer session students.

A police science course in defensive tactics, for both men and women, will again be offered. Students will be instructed on how to protect themselves against persons armed with dangerous weapons.

Demonstrations and drills in a limited number of holds and defensive tactics will be conducted. The women's class will convene in the afternoon and the men's class will meet in the evening on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday.

An evening class in supervision will be offered for the first time as a summer session course. Covering the rudiments of supervisions, the course will give the student an appreciation of the scope of related responsibilities in management systems and organizations.

Role playing and problem solving of case studies are among techniques that will be employed in the course.

Total immersion in a foreign language will be experienced by students enrolling in either German or Spanish during the summer session. Immersion is considered a tremendous advantage in learning a foreign language in that the student will be in continuous contact with the language for five mornings each week.

Students will imitate sounds, words and speech patterns and absorb them through extensive classroom repetition and laboratory drill.

After acquiring a suitable degree of audio-lingual command through immersion in the language, reading and writing naturally follow through learning the traditional system of orthography in which sounds are represented on paper.

Prospective students must apply in person for admission

"For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

This verse from Romans is part of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. Title of the Lesson is "Christian Science."

Among related passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are these lines:

"Sickness, sin, and death, being inharmonious, do not originate in God nor belong to His government. His law, rightly understood, destroys them."

The service at Christian Science Society, 7741 Pacific Ave., begins at 11 a.m., and is open to the public.

Be glad we're good at shrinking natural gas.

When natural gas is cooled to -258° F it turns into liquid, shrinking to 1/600th of its original volume. That means important economies in storage space and handling, plus exciting new uses for the LNG—Liquefied Natural Gas.

Already LNG has proved practicable in many San Diego Gas & Electric Company applications. We pioneered the first LNG plant in the west; now we're ready to build a second plant which will greatly increase production and storage capacity.

LNG is compact and portable and we are now taking it to customers in sparsely settled areas distant from gas mains.

In tests as a fuel for conventional cars and trucks, LNG has sharply reduced smog-producing exhaust. Now we're staging a series of 50,000 mile tests to determine the long range effect of LNG on car performance.

This pioneer role in exploring the uses of LNG is part of a continuing effort to bring San Diego Gas & Electric customers every advantage tomorrow holds.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

A recent issue of a mass circulation magazine (LIFE, April 26) carried a brief article on the vaccination of children with BCG (Bacillus Calmette Guerin) against tuberculosis by a Chicago physician.

Since 1966 the U.S. Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Assn. have agreed that mass vaccination with BCG is not indicated in this country.

The tuberculin skin test provides a simple, relatively painless and inexpensive way of determining whether a person has been infected with tuberculosis germs at some previous time. (All positive reactors are in danger of developing active tuberculosis in their lifetimes, and they account for 75 to 80 per cent of the tuberculosis reported every year in the U.S.)

The person vaccinated with BCG always becomes a positive reactor, infected or not. Thus BCG wipes out the tuberculin skin test as one means of finding out where to look for TB—an important factor since there are no symptoms in early stages of pulmonary tuberculosis.

But the use of BCG as a protective agent is even less attractive in the light of a relatively new weapon: chemoprophylaxis, the agent usually used being isoniazid, an inexpensive and easy-to-take drug. Isoniazid has been found to prevent active tuberculosis in the previously infected.

The committee for the Guidance of the Tuberculosis Program of the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Assn. recommends:

"BCG should be used for the uninfected individual or small groups of uninfected individuals living in unavoidable contact with one or more uncontrolled infectious persons who cannot or will not obtain or accept supervised treatment."

Sincerely yours,

Dear Editor:

Recently a group of people thought of the idea of sponsoring a night at the San Diego Stadium for the benefit of the Home of Guiding Hands.

The group discussed this idea at great length and then presented it to the Women's Guild as a project. It was accepted as a project and now your help is needed to make this evening of Saturday, July 13 at 8 p.m., a night to remember.

The San Diego Padres have as their opposition the Indianapolis Indians. When these two teams meet there is always plenty of action and an exciting game to see.

There are two types of tickets available: the $5 Sponsor Ticket (of which $3.75 goes to the Home) and the $2 ticket (of which 75c goes to the Home). All seats are reserved on the field level. The Sponsor Ticket will be directly behind home plate and the other tickets along first and third base lines.

Of course, the more people attending this Benefit Game, the greater success we can make of this. If you belong to some organization or group, perhaps you can encourage them to attend as a group. It will be more fun if we have a good enthusiastic crowd.

Tickets may be had by sending a check to: Women's Guild—Home of Guiding Hands, P.O. Box 15455, San Diego, California 92115.

Your ticket will be sent to you by return mail. We will be looking for you at the Padre game for an evening of fun and relaxation.

Sincerely,
Martin G. Telle
Benefit Chairman

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

There is still time to join the summer Spanish class. The second meeting is being held tonight in room B of General Dynamics-Convair's Recreation building (next to the big missile) off of Highway 395 at 7 p.m. Additional information or directions may be obtained regarding the class by calling 277-8900, ext. 1111.

Conversational Spanish may best be learned by a beginner who knows how to ask the right questions. An important question to start with is "Que es esto?" which means "What is that?"

When you hear a Spanish word that you do not understand or know, ask for an explanation by repeating the unknown word and say "Que es esto?"

Another important beginning question is "Cuanto vale?" which idiomatically means "How much is it worth?" or "How much is the value?" For example we may say "Cuanto vale el viaje?" for "How much is the trip worth?"

Once we know how to say "Cuanto vale?" we can expand this question into many phrases by adding simple nouns like "la camisa" (the shirt), "la blusa" (the blouse), or "la falda" (the skirt). Thus "Cuanto vale la camisa?" for "How much is the shirt worth?"

Today's practice phrases contain words that can be easily learned by the beginner. Study them over and then practice saying them with the automatically recorded voice when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone.

IMPORTANT PHRASES

Say "Que es esto?" (keh ehsh-ehs-toh) for "What is that?"
Say "Yo no se." (yoh noh seh) for "I don't know."

USEFUL PHRASES

Say "Cuanto vale el viaje?" (koo-AHN-toh VAH-leh ehl vee-AH-heh) for "How much is the trip worth?"
Say "Vale mucho." (VAH-leh MOO-choh) for "It is worth a lot."

OTHER PHRASES

Say "Cuanto debo pagar?" (koo-AHN-toh DEH-boh pah-GAHR) for "How much should I pay?"
Say "Yo pago muy poco." (yoh PAH-goh MOO-ee POH-koh) for "I pay very little."

Mail Bag

Dear Editor:

We have sent out the following letter:

TO: sit ins — sit outs — Anti Viet Nams — Card Burners — those opposed to our law and order procedure — our way of life —

We have no desire to repeat any of your names here which would only gain for you more publicity, for you are, as I see it, Un-American Shame.

All of us have the right of free speech — the right to petition our government and when such government becomes destructive to its ends, then the right to alter or abolish it and form a new government.

These rights are given to us by the Constitution and our Bill of Rights as established by law and order and love of Country; the changes are determined in the same manner. When our beloved Country is at war — a "SHOOTING WAR" if you please — such actions as yours become most distasteful.

I would suggest that YOU should take "Ole Glory" and wrap yourself in it and feel its warmth and protection. After such meditation, unfurl our wonderful COLORS — place them before you and you would then stand back, erect and at attention, to admire and respect all that our flag stands for — the many battles that it has been through that made it possible for YOU to be here — to seek your redresses and to voice your views.

Then humbly visit a Veterans hospital, one of those housing some of our "Boys" returned from Viet Nam . . . Blood — tears — anxiety — sacrifices — that all went into keeping "OUR FLAG FLYING."

Then meet with a few refugees, many who throughout their lives never knew home nor freedom.

Then if all of this does not move you — then go to the church of your choice for a conference with your God — Ask Him for wisdom and guidance.

If all of this leaves you UNMOVED — then petition this form of government with which YOU do not agree, and ask that you be sent to another country of YOUR choice.

We do not know how such as you may react to these words — but to us Veterans and Americans, we say "OUR COUNTRY, BE IT RIGHT OR WRONG — OUR COUNTRY."

VIET CONG MENU: Engineman Second Class David Kilpatrick loads the 81 mm mortar aboard a U.S. Navy "Swift" boat during operations off the coast of South Vietnam. Kilpatrick was aboard one of the fast patrol craft which attacked and sank a communist trawler attempting to infiltrate supplies to the Viet Cong last March 1.

He is the son of Mrs. Nellie Kilpatrick of 9 Main st., South Windsor, Conn. His wife, Gail, and their three daughters live at 1157 Carlsbad st., Spring Valley, Calif. Since November, 1967, he has been attached to Coastal Squadron 14, Cam Ranh Bay, Republic of Vietnam. (OFFICIAL U.S. NAVY PHOTOGRAPH BY LT. S. C. TAYLOR, USN)

SV Man Quells Viet Cong

CAM RANH BAY — In Navy parlance, it is 1730 hours on a hot spring afternoon off the central coast of South Vietnam.

Reports coming in to the Coastal Squadron 14 headquarters indicated the Viet Cong had set up a machine gun position just inside a cove a few miles south of the U. S. Navy "Operation Market Time" base at Cam Ranh Bay.

PCF-43, a Navy "Swift" boat on patrol off the coast had been sent to check it out.

Just outside the cove entrance, PCF-43 throttles back from cruising speed and settles to rest. The Officer-in-Charge sounds General Quarters: All hands don flak jackets and move to their battle stations.

Standing by to load the 81mm mortar on the Swift's stern is Engineman Second Class David Kilpatrick of Spring Valley, Calif. The mortar is the Swift boat's big gun, capable of accurately hurling 14-pound projectiles into enemy positions up to 3,500 yards away.

The plan is simple: Move slowly through the cove entrance, keeping close watch on both flanks. If the gun is there, take it under fire with the forward twin-50s while the Swift speeds ahead to bring the mortar to bear.

At another time, the cove would be the perfect spot for a summer weekend. Both water and sky are deep blue and crystal clear. The mountains rising abruptly on either side are covered with lush, tropical vegetation.

And, perhaps, some Viet Cong.

But not today. The Swift glides safely into the inner harbor. If it were there, the reported machine gun position now is gone.

Straight ahead, however, is an abandoned village sometimes used by the enemy. The Skipper orders the boat brought about, ready to break for the open sea if need be, yet still in good mortar firing position.

The rear gunner trains his 81mm mortar on the enemy structures. Five rounds are fired. Then five more. Several structures collapse or burn, but there is no return fire from the beach.

The Skipper orders the area strafed with machine gun fire and random mortars. Forward and after gun mounts respond.

If "Charley" was there, he didn't show himself. And if he was not, at least he will have a few less places to stay if he returns. The boat moves forward, back through the channel, then accelerates to cruising speed for the return to Cam Ranh Bay.

No enemy forces have been flushed from their sometime hideouts, nor are many Viet Cong found these days in the thousands of boats that transit the offshore waters of South Vietnam, many of them checked, boarded and inspected by the men of PCF-43.

Petty Officer Kilpatrick and his fellow crewman aboard PCF-43 like to think it's because they and their buddies in other Swifts are doing the job they were sent here for, and doing it well.

It's not an easy life, nor always an exciting one. But for the men of PCF-43, it's more than worth while.

They volunteered. And they're glad they did.

Realtors Back Tax Limit Bill

The California Real Estate Association has thrown its support behind the Watson tax-limitation initiative which, if qualified, will be on the ballot next November.

Robert W. Karpe of Bakersfield, CREA president, announced that the board of directors of the 46,000-member association took the action Saturday during a meeting at the El Cortez Hotel in San Diego.

"This means," Karpe said, "that we are urging our 176 local real estate boards throughout California to work actively in their communities in support of the proposal, provided it qualifies for the ballot."

The initiative is in the signature-gathering stage with 520,276 valid voter signatures needed to be filed with the secretary of state by September 3.

The so-called Watson proposal, named for Philip Watson, Los Angeles County Assessor, would limit real property taxes after July 1, 1969, to 1% of actual cash value for providing property related services.

In addition, it would limit property taxes for people related services (education and welfare) to 80% of base cost, reducing that by 20% each year until eliminated in 1973.

It is sponsored by the Citizens' Committee for Property Tax Limitation.

Karpe said the Realtors voted the action "because we believe something must be done in California to reduce the tax burden on the property owner."

The total was derived from the following sources: gasoline tax, $41,300,592; diesel fuel tax, $2,170,402; by transfer from the Motor Vehicle Fund, $89,752,893; and the balance from miscellaneous sources.

Spring Valley Man Graduates From Norwich

Ben Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Martin of 8810 Orville st., Spring Valley received a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering at the 149th Graduation Commencement at Norwich University recently.

He also received his commission in the Army Reserve as a second Lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers.

There are several ways you can give cotton garments a custom-finished look when you sew. Here's one: use the zig-zag attachment on your machine to finish inside seams. The garment will look better and wear longer.

What started out as a "mere slip of a girl" has developed into a trainer of killer whales, seals and dolphins.

Jerry Watmore, 24, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Watmore of 2509 Central, Spring Valley, is currently working at the Seattle Marine Aquarium, with a 2,000 pound killer whale named "Kandu".

Jerry, when she was ten years old, had a desire to learn to swim. She registered in the Red Cross sponsored "Back Yard Swim" program.

After becoming a proficient swimmer, she decided to go one better. She registered at the La Mesa Recreation Center in swimming and diving classes.

Again she made her mark. She entered the National Diving competition in Redding, Calif. along with area competition.

When Sea World opened in San Diego, officials there recognized her aquatic abilities and offered her a position as chief "Mea Maid." She held that title for two years.

While working at Sea World, she became closely associated with dolphins, seals and whales that are kept there.

It was then that she decided to turn her abilities and desires toward the training of these animals.

She traveled to Switzerland and Italy where she picked up the fine points of training mammals.

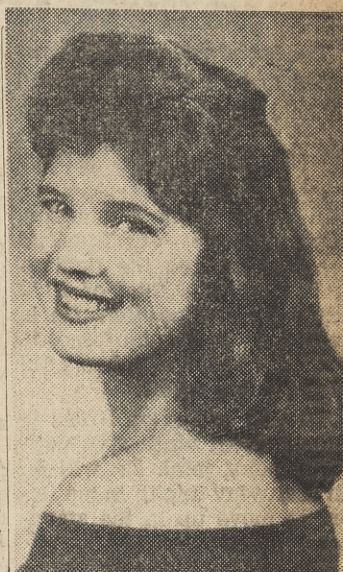

On the return trip from Europe, Jerry decided to stop in Bellevue, Washington to visit her sister, Mrs. Terrill Cane and family. Mrs. Cane is the former Blanche Watmore of Spring Valley.

While in Washington she visited the Seattle Marine Aquarium. It was in short order that she found herself employed there.

Her attention was then directed to the killer whale Kandu. Under her direction and guidance Kandu became an outstanding feature of the area attracting large crowds of both young and old people.

She plans to leave the Seattle Aquarium and register at the Seattle Community College in the fall to complete her college education.

After completing college Jerry wants to trade in her killer whales and other aquatic friends to work with humans.

She wants to take her majors in psychology and physiotherapy and combine them with her past experiences in the water, to help people gain full use of their muscles by teaching them to swim.

Jerry, a 1963 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School was educated in Spring Valley. Following high school graduation she attended San Diego State College where she majored in psychology and physiotherapy.

Monte Vista High Sports Projection

by Scott McLaugh

Monte Vista's summer basketball team split its first two games of the season against San Diego and St. Patrick this week.

In their seasonal debut against St. Patrick, the Monarchs used a devastating full-court press in route to a 75-35 trouncing.

Jim Krattli and Jim Bristol led the Monarchs on offense with Mike Lasley leading the way on defense. Using the full-court press, the Monarchs pressed their opponents into many miscues.

Then last Monday, the Monarchs lost to the Cavemen of San Diego, 70-52.

Although the Monarchs trailed by just two at the end of the first half, the Cavemen rallied in the final two stanzas to win going away.

Jim Bristol, Danny Hines, and Ernie Arroyo were Monarch leaders in offense. Although the Monarch's defense was generally good, once again the Monarch offense was lacking in the second half.

The Monte Vista American Legion baseball squad came through over the weekend with a doubleheader sweep over Linda Vista by scores of 6-5 and 4-3.

Jess Bowers pitched the first game of the Monarchs with hitting help coming from Bill McManaway, Roger Sommers, and Doug Miller.

Paul Loop hurled the second game which many thought to be the best game the Monarchs have played this summer. Don Scheerer and Mike Nush backed up Paul at the plate.

The Monarch horsehiders are now 5-7. Monte Vista's defense has been excellent and in the last few games the hitting has been picking up.

Monte Vista will play Helix this afternoon and then San Diego tomorrow.

Remedial Physical Program Established For Asthmatic Youth

A remedial physical conditioning program aimed at improving the general health and emotional status of asthmatic children to be undertaken — on a limited basis — next month, was announced jointly by Dr. Harvey O. Randal of the county Christmas Seal agency and David M. Miller, chairman of the San Diego Easter Seals group.

Randal, medical chairman of the project for the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County, said his organization joined the Easter Seals Division of Children's Hospital and Health Center in a "pilot" endeavor patterned after several successful ventures in other areas of the country.

Class will meet for one-and-a-half hours a week for eight weeks commencing July 9 at Children's Hospital, 8001 Frost st., under the supervision of Miss Trude Seligman, coordinator of physical and occupational therapy.

Doctor Randal said age levels will be either 6 to 8 or 9 to 12. Since the initial class will be small, it is not expected all applicants will be selected for the pilot study.

Grossmont High Coach To Retire

Lawrence C. Head, physical education teacher and coach at Grossmont High School since 1936, will retire at the end of the present semester.

He is a graduate of the Grossmont High class of 1928, and actually began his career there in 1924. Colleagues will honor him on Thursday, June 13, with Lawrence Head Day activities.

Head took his training at San Diego State College where he was graduated in 1936. He went directly to Grossmont to teach and assist Jack Mashin, football, track, and basketball coach, and to coach J. V. baseball.

From 1951 through 1965, Coach Head served as chairman of the physical education department. He has coached track and cross country teams from the mid-1950's until now.

During World War II, Coach Head was in the Army from 1943 until March of 1946. He was overseas in Japan and Okinawa.

Head tells of the "old days" at Grossmont High. When he began there, there were about 800 student. The basketball courts were located where the art and science buildings are now.

The only gym field was the area now called the football field. Nothing beyond that was graded for use. Lockers and showers were in the basement of the "Old Cafeteria Building," fondly named and no longer in existence.

"We had some great teams in those days," says Coach Head. "These have been wonderful years."

Head and his wife, Betty, live on El Monte rd., Lakeside, next to El Monte Park. Their three daughters — Marilyn, Margaret, and Martha — are all married. The Heads have six grandchildren — four boys and two girls.

Coach may be retiring from Grossmont High School, but will go right back to work July 1 in the business he has bought. Located on Jackson street, the establishment has an appropriate name, indeed — Grossmont Lawnmowers.

C. Mosse Appointed As Miguel Counselor

Charles E. Mosse, who was a teacher at Mt. Miguel High School when it opened in 1957, has been appointed counselor for the 1968-69 school year, it was announced this week.

Counselor C. E. Mosse

It is the same job he held in 1966 but he took two years out for a federally-funded program as director-counselor for under-achieving students at the same school.

As counselor this year, he will follow his charges for four years — counseling them until they are graduated in 1973.

During the two years he worked with under-achievers his objective was to find the point at which these youngsters could be motivated to learn.

"Many students come to high school without knowing the reasons for needing to study. Often they are rebellious, uncooperative and dispirited. In these cases we try to make study more meaningful. We do this by relating courses to success experiences. We program many field trips where the study-success concept becomes apparent."

Mosse said that about 15 field trips are scheduled each year for under-achievers, usually with the aid of three teachers who devote their spare time to the trips. They attempt to recruit interested people to help provide transportation and act as chaperones.

While Mosse will not be involved in this project for the next four years, his interest in these youngsters does not lag.

"It takes a lot of sympathetic concern and demonstrating to bring youngsters into the mainstream of education and society. We try to do this by showing examples of success in the current work force. If youngsters associate study with success in the work field, it helps overcome negative attitudes."

Jerry Lucas Scores Perfect Scholastic Record At College

Jerry Lucas, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lucas, 9326 Crest dr., Spring Valley is one of 22 students to maintain a perfect record to head the 1968 Spring semester Dean's Honor List at Grossmont College.

Lucas completed the spring semester with a 4.0 or straight A grade point average to lead a record-breaking 333 Grossmont College students qualifying for the honor list.

A grade point average of 3.0 in 12 or more units is necessary to qualify for a place on the list that signifies academic distinction.

Of the 22 students earning a 4.0 grade point average, 16 completed more than the required 12 units, while 12 students completed 15 or more units.

Dr. Robert N. Burnham, vice president for student personnel services, in commenting on the record number of students qualifying for the honor said, "I am gratified at the number of students who qualified for this academic recognition and I am particularly pleased to note the high level of achievement of those adult students who maintained a 4.0 grade point average during the semester."

Of the 22 students who earned a 4.0 grade point average, 13 were 21 years old and over, eight were over 30 years old, with the oldest student on the list over 50.

titudes born of years of defeatism.

"What all this boils down to is the ability of the instructor to convince the under-achiever that he is being accepted at his cultural level and then creating in him a higher, but average image," Mosse said.

One way in which this is done is through an Explorer Scout-type program in which students are taken on campout field trips. If the class is studying archeology, the trip will be to an Indian site under college supervision. In business courses students make field trips to business firms and talk to personnel executives. They begin to relate study courses to the needs of the business firm.

The under-achiever program stemmed from a pilot course during the summer of 1963 Mosse was involved in that one which was a five-week cram affair. That course convinced him that school could aid under-achievers as a regular part of the school curriculum. During the two years he served as director-counselor, an average of 75 students were enrolled each year. He saw dramatic changes as the youngsters linked study with the day-by-day world and the behavior of the youngsters improved. Their self-image continued to improve until they eventually sublimated the idea that they were born to be failures and losers.

While Mosse is assigned strictly to freshman counseling this year, he devotes much thought to the under-achievers.

"They need help from the outside world. They need people who care to be chaperones and to provide transportation on field trips — trips that are so vital to the learning process. These more-average contacts are often a solid foundation for those youngsters whose major problem is not believing in themselves," Mosse said.

San Diego's Newest Hotel To Be Built By Lemon Grove's Four Youngflesh Brothers

A multi-million dollar hotel and convention center is being built in San Diego by four Lemon Grove businessmen on Harbor Island, just south of Lindbergh Field.

The men are the Youngflesh brothers who built, own and operate the 94-bed San Diego Convalescent hospital at Waite dr. and Massachusetts ave. in Lemon Grove.

The new hotel, the Ramada Inn, is named after the hotel-management firm that will operate it. It will be eleven, possibly twelve stories tall and will house 345 rooms.

The brothers are Harlan, LeRoy, Carl and Ray Youngflesh, who came to Lemon Grove and Pasadena from Akron, Ohio in 1959. Two of the brothers operated a construction firm in Pasadena for a while. Now all of them are here.

The eleven-story hotel will represent an expenditure of 5½ billion dollars and is being built so that the twelfth floor can be added anywhere along the construction cycle.

"We're waiting to see what best use can be made of the twelfth floor," Harlan Youngflesh said this week. "We have all the engineering completed for this floor — including four-elevator service, so that a rooftop restaurant, or a firm wanting a dramatic ocean view can have the entire floor tailored to its needs."

He said 12 floors is the legal limit permitted by the Federal Aviation Agency due to its proximity to Lindbergh Field and the Naval Air Station.

Ramada will have a coffee shop seating 97; a dining room for 144; a banquet room seating 500 overlooking the ocean; parking for 425 cars, and it will be surrounded by slips capable of accommodating 1,800 boats.

Youngflesh anticipates two and three-quarters million dollars income the first year. One and a half million will come from rooms and the rest will be from food and beverage services.

Harbor Island is a man-made island in San Diego Bay, two miles long and about 300 feet wide. Already, two of its three marina sites have been leased. Other tourist-type attractions are being encouraged to lease ground by the Port District of San Diego. The Port District built and will operate the island as it does nearby Shelter Island.

Harbor Island is connected to the airport by bridge. Ramada Inn is scheduled for completion in May, 1969.

THE HOTEL — Ramada Inn, that will soon rise on Harbor Island, a man-made spit of land in San Diego Bay, just south of Lindbergh Field. It is being built by the Youngflesh brothers of Lemon Grove.

Navy Recruit Training Begins For 3 Men

The three will undergo recruit training at the U. S. Navy Training Center in San Diego.

less, all of Alhambra, and Reuben C. Littleford of Benedict.

A third daughter, Mrs. Melie Playter came in from Salt Lake City. Other out of town guests were Mrs. Mildred Peck, Mrs. Jean Posell, and Guy E. Peck, all of Seal Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Bachman of Sun City.

Four grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren will complete the family group.

Auto Inspection Violations Drop

The percentage of vehicles found in violation by the Passenger Vehicle Inspection teams of the California Highway Patrol has dropped below 60 percent for the first time since the program began in 1966.

In March this year only 593 of each 1000 vehicles inspected were in violation of any of the 12 items checked. In August of 1967 the number of vehicles in violation in each 1000 inspected was 667.

"Lights are still the major problem in the inspection, accounting for more than 70% of all violations. Improperly adjusted headlights are the cause of more than half the light violations."
